

Please join
Treasury Department's Office of Financial Institutions Policy and Center for Financial Policy at the University of Maryland's Smith School of Business for:

Beyond the Back Office: How technology is transforming financial institutions

A panel discussion to explore the indispensable role of technology in: creating new business lines, changing old business models, shaping client interactions, managing compliance functions, and redefining the financial industry. This event will bring together business practitioners, regulators, academics, and other stakeholders to discuss the current landscape and raise issues for our regulatory framework.

Opening remarks by Treasury Assistant Secretary for Financial Institutions Cyrus Amir-Mokri

Panelists:

Paul Walker, Co-Head of Technology, Goldman Sachs
Christopher McClinton, Vice President, Payment Solutions, American Bankers Association
William Pasenelli, President, Community Bank of the Chesapeake
Bruce Weber, Dean, University of Delaware's College of Business & Economics

Friday, March 14, 2014
9:30–11:30 a.m.

U.S. Department of the Treasury
1500 Pennsylvania Ave. NW
Washington D.C. 20220
The Cash Room

Please RSVP to Elizabeth Hipple at Elizabeth.Hipple@treasury.gov by Monday, March 10.
All attendees will need to submit clearance information to gain access to the Treasury building.
This event is closed press.